

SUR 107 : SURGICAL ANATOMY & PHYSIOLOGY

This course is an overview of surgical anatomy and physiology. Emphasis is placed on the organizational structure of the body, organ systems, relevant surgical pathophysiology, and related medical terminology. Upon completion, the student should be able to apply knowledge of anatomy in the clinical environment.

Credits 3

Lecture Hours 3

Lab Hours 0

Clinical Credits 0

Prerequisites

Admission to the program and/or as required by the SUR Department